

////////////////////////////////////

Bio

Gary Moskoff

Over the years, Mr. Moskoff has worked with Fortune 500 companies too start-ups alike, some of his clients have included Spyder Active Sports, The Knowledge Webb, a few of the largest Japanese major integrated trading companies (Sogo-Shosha), Evil Genius Games – serving as Vice President, the largest casual game developers/publishers in the world - including Oberon Media, Colorado Office of Economic Development and International Trade, some of the worlds largest telecom service providers, Modulation Sciences and BH07. While working with BH07, a lifestyle, branding agency rooted in fashion, Mr. Moskoff served as VP of Business Development and Brand Manager.

Mr. Moskoff is also EVP Americas at Michael Moto, LLC, a company focused on building cultural bridges between the USA and Japan. Bringing both apparel lifestyle based brands and technology too and from Japan. He is also a partner at iHound Software, LLC a company focused on delivering mobile security solutions to Generation X and Y. Prior to founding SGS, Mr. Moskoff held senior sales positions at Nortel Networks and before that General Electric.

Mr. Moskoff founded Sleeping Giant Solutions while attending Colorado State University’s EMBA program in 2003. Much earlier in his career, he graduated from Quinnipiac University where he served as president of their student body.

-- Sleeping Giant Team 