

////////////////////////////////////

Bio

Jeremy Lindenmier

Jeremy Lindenmier brings nearly 15 years of experience in the fields of art direction, apparel design, brand development, editing, motion graphics, print production and rich, interactive media. His extensive creative and design experience includes crafting innovative multi-media brand solutions, retail product launches, cutting-edge motion graphics and animation for companies like MTV, Scion, Pony Footwear, and STX. As the owner of Stileloot and former Creative Director of Brandhouse 07, Jeremy brings a rare level of multi-faceted genius to SGS, stemming from a true fever for design, and an innate ability to turn the outside world into compelling art. As Sleeping Giants Motion Graphics Designer, Jeremy turns brand messaging into a captivating and stylish experience for consumers.

Jeremy's creative energy went into helping the launch of successful apparel and accessory lines including Brandhouse 07 and the alternative jewelry line, Nitrogen. Brandhouse 07, a young men's urban apparel company where Jeremy served as Creative Director, was quickly picked up by Kmart and featured in over 1,600 stores. Jeremy then became a founding member, brand manager, designer and business partner in the jewelry company, Nitrogen which was acquired by Aurafin Oro America.

Jeremy received his BFA degree from the University of Colorado, Denver.

-- Sleeping Giant Team 